

I am a PMP, ACP, CSM and MBA who absolutely loves what I do every day! I launched Purple Raindrop in 2013 as a response to the realisation that companies needed to be more agile and responsive.

I work with great teams in our two divisions. The digital marketing arm and the project management arm where we contract as servant leaders to companies in the software development and media spaces. We serve as project managers and agile coaches to teams who work on challenging deliverables in a multitude of environments.

Connect with me on LinkedIn or Twitter.