

Dylan Gordon is an Innovation Product Manager for the Project Management Institute, where he focuses on building impactful and accessible digital products. In previous roles, he has directed a product marketing team and managed the development of the first digital fantasy football scholarship platform. In his spare time, Dylan enjoys spending time with his wife, playing tennis, and telling dad jokes.