

Marjorie Anderson is the Product Manager for Community at Project Management Institute. She believes that community doesn't just bring people together, it has the power to transform organizations and change how we work, communicate, and innovate. She has been featured on the Community Signal, Community Pulse, and Masters of Community podcasts, Association Chat with Kiki L'Italien, has spoken at numerous virtual events on the topic of community management, and has been featured in Associations Now magazine.