

Brenda Msangi MPharm

Brenda Msangi is the CEO of CCBRT. Brenda leads the transformational journey of CCBRT to become a healthcare Social Enterprise serving the community and the most vulnerable with accessible, specialized services and development programmes. Brenda is a pioneer in deploying Lean Management in Healthcare in Tanzania.

Brenda leads the organisation's engagement with the Government of Tanzania – a public-private partnership.

Brenda has been working with CCBRT since 2009 holding different Senior Management roles including being the Chief Operating Officer; developing key processes and improving systems across diverse sections of the organisation. As the CCBRT Director of Community programmes, she oversaw a key transition in the organisation's approach to health systems strengthening across the country; instead of providing direct service delivery, to build the capacity of other providers to deliver high-quality, accessible care in Tanzania.

Prior to CCBRT, Brenda worked in the healthcare industry in the UK for over eight years.

A holder of Masters of Pharmacy (UK), Brenda is currently completing her MBA in Healthcare Management at the University of Plymouth. Brenda is committed to mentoring up-and-coming leaders and is dedicated to change and impact the lives of Tanzanians especially women and the most vulnerable.

Her sense of humour and energy enable her to tackle the complexity of her current role with positivity and determination. Brenda is married and a mother of three daughters.
