

David is a technology entrepreneur with experience in financial services & startups. He is currently the co-founder at Okra, the leading Open finance fintech startup in Africa, dubbed the “Plaid for Africa” with a vision to democratize access to financial data in Africa. The startup was recently selected by the World economic forum as one of the five technology pioneers in Africa in 2022.