

Angela Mwangi is a passionate, copywriter and designer with breadth and depth of expertise demonstrated by competency in fundamental graphic design and writing-related skills such as branding, packaging, typography, editorial design, communication strategies, and concept ideation. She is a driven, innovative, and inspired creative possessing a dynamic and artistic nature, in line with a history of professional and academic credentials in Kenya and the United Kingdom.

Angela believes that taking hold of new opportunities highlights her undisputed interest in broadening her knowledge and experiences and is excited to start a new and compelling journey in project management. She aims to successfully apply the skills and experience acquired to deliver significant value, exceptional designs, spectacularly written word, and effective project management for the benefit of Africa and across the globe.